For assaulting and beating up his mother-in-law Moses Moku was fined $40 and costs and given a severe lecture by the judge in the Kau district court last week. The testimony showed that the assault occurred as the result of a row between Moku and Mrs. Iokepa at the latter's home, while both were considerably under the influence of swipes. Moses was repentant, saying he did not intend injuring the woman, but merely hit her to make her behave herself.
The Hilo supervisors and school teachers have made the discovery that no appropriation for the pay of a school janitor has been recorded by the supervisory body. Mr. Austin, a member of the supervisory body, has ordered the clerk to notify the teachers that the situation is the result of an oversight on the part of the clerks, and that the appropriation was duly made, and that at the next meeting $120 will be formally set aside to pay janitors for October, November, and December.
This morning about 6:15 a man, riding a motorcycle along the Waialae road at a terrible clip, struck a Japanese who was walking ahead, giving him a severe shaking up, and scattering the contents of his lunch pail in all directions. Witnesses state that there was no occasion for the accident, as the road at that point is fully fifty feet wide and all clear. The motorcyclist, after catching his balance, rushed on townward.

TWO MEET WITH ACCIDENTS
While at work at Fort street wharf in the removal of cargo from a small coasting steamer to the shed, George Lanui, a laborer, was injured by the falling of a pile of tubs, and he was conveyed to the hospital. Besides some minor bruises, Lanui is suffering from a broken leg.
The police were called to attend to the removal of Yun Choy, a Chinese, from Palama Settlement this morning. The Chinese was engaged in painting a new building and was at work on an elevated staging. In some manner he lost his balance and fell a distance of twenty feet, receiving serious injuries. He was taken to the hospital for treatment.
George D. Pittman, a rancher struck by lightning, near Wilcox, Arizona, measured five feet eight inches in height before death and six feet afterward. His vertebrae were uncoupled by the shock.
Thinking that he saw a possum in a chinquapin tree near his home at Thomasville, Alabama, Urian Noble, a wealthy farmer, shot and killed Thomas Williams, a fifteen-year-old boy, son of another farmer, who was gathering nuts from the tree.

COMMON PEOPLE COMING TO OWN IN STATE OF CALIFORNIA NOW

Southern Pacific and Fire Underwriters Among Others Are Finding It Out

By ERNEST N. SMITH
[Special San Francisco Correspondence]
"The people's rights," is a great slogan these days. "Let the people rule" is no idle boast of the prattling politicians. The people are ruling—at least they are in California, in a way that is giving the "jim jams" to the active officials who must provide dividends for hungry stock holders. It's getting so a corporation president is beginning to cuddle close to the common people in a frantic effort to get in touch and keep an ear on the ground to listen for the grumble of public discontent.
And every once in a while a common citizen, stirred in anger and indignation, says, "See here, what this gouging, grasping corporation is doing to us. Looky looky, the thieves reaping a golden harvest," and there comes a saint answering cry from the corporation president: "Hell-up, hell-up," attorneys rush forward frantically and the fight is on.
It used to cost more to telephone to Oakland from the San Francisco ferry building than it did to personally travel to Oakland. Someone finally yelled, facts were presented to the Railroad Commission, which demanded private records, statistics, etc., and promptly lowered the tariff. The telephone company yelled unmercifully, but the rates stayed down.
However, business began to increase very fast, and the telephone company is in a fair way to find itself better off than in the past.
For years the Southern Pacific discriminated against the Peninsula between San Francisco. Police requests met with a chilled response or no attention at all.
"Let the people rule," shouted somebody. The clans got together, money was raised, and the merry war of baiting the railroad corporation was on. Be it known that the railroad hates the commission beyond almost anything else in existence inasmuch as the commission has turned the spot light on every evil railroad practice and inconsistency. Coming to Terms.
The railroad now offered to compromise, which is much better than having a legal decision lodged against you, which can be quoted by other communities. The fight was bitter. The S. P. sought to inject other issues, tried to get rival communities fighting, made glowing future promises—but the common people hung tenaciously to one point—"we want lower rates"—and they got them. The railroad defense crumbled and the people will save.
The net result will be that the country will develop and the railroad will be better off than ever.
Gouged by Underwriters.
The San Francisco Board of Underwriters have been gouging the city ever since the fire on insurance rates. Somebody woke up, called Mayor Rolph's attention to things, and he being a practical business man let action follow thought. The fire insurance companies parleyed and
